Lake County initiatives are looking at the water supply 20-30 years into the future. Regional efforts are looking at sustainability 50 years into the future. The Northeast Regional Planning Supply Group has agreed on an outline for the final report to legislators. Two surveys have been developed for the public water utilities and general public which include conservation measures and interest. The general public survey is targeting private well owners. The Northeast Regional Planning Supply Group also approved the final draft of the water demand report which covered three demand scenarios that will be used to develop guidelines for water consumption and conservation. She also updated the group on her speaking engagement at the "Beyond Showerheads and Sprinklers Water Conference" hosted by the Metropolitan Planning Council and Paul Simon Public Policy Institute on June 16 at the Union Club in Chicago. Member Maine attended the event. The Lake County Integrated Water Resource Committee published and has made available on the Lake County website the 30-page report on the state of the county's water supply. The Committee also hosted the second county-wide water summit attended by over 100 people. There is an interest among those who attended that a regional group be formed. Nine County Board members attended the summit. The Stormwater Management Commission and Lake County Forest Preserve District sold out of rain barrels at just under 1000. Lake County Health Department has gone phosphorous-free on all properties. The Health Department's Lakes Management Unit received an IEPA grant for $100,000 and has begun a 2-year water and sediment study of the Waukegan River. Lake County and a number of municipalities have conducted a feasibility study that determined that Lake Michigan water is a viable option to the use of ground water. The group is investigating financing opportunities for a new infrastructure system would include a new 20 million gallon water treatment plant. The municipalities are preparing a cost effectiveness analysis in preparation for applying to the Illinois Department of Natural Resources for Lake Michigan water allocations.

CHAIR'S REMARKS

Chair Schmidt presented her report to the County Board. A number of County Board members and she attended the Affordable Housing Conference on May 14th. The County Board will follow up their Long-Term Strategic Planning retreat held on Friday, June 6th with a final session on Friday, June 27th to wrap up the long term strategic plan. Lake County continues to receive a AAA rating by the rating agency, a distinction held by only Lake and DuPage Counties in the State of Illinois and thirty counties nationwide. The Centers for Disease Control rated the Lake County Health Department with a 95 out of 100 score on its technical assistance review for emergency preparedness. This was attributed to the collaboration with the County Clerk's office to use polling places as distribution sites for mass medication in the event of a pandemic or bioterrorism event.
